Welcome Address

Mr. Asare Konadu Yamoah (Chairman, GIBF)

The Ghana International Book Fair (GIBF) is gradually making giant strides since its establishment in 1996. The GIBF has come a long way and since 2004 when the Book Fair started under the management of the Stakeholder Planning Committee with the Ghana Publishers Association as the lead organiser, it has surpassed the various challenges encountered over the years and has demonstrated resilience and adaptability including embracing the changing technological trends in the industry.

This year marks the 21st edition of the Ghana International Book Fair. We are happy to also inform you that year's Book Fair focuses on Books, Culture and Artificial Intelligence (AI) which is the modern trend and technology influencing the way certain tasks are done for human and societal development. Thus, the theme for this year's Book Fair is "Books and Culture in the ear of Artificial Intelligence". This is to deepen understanding of the application, opportunities and challenges of AI among professionals in the publishing industry.

We have variety of programmes and activities for the four days, offering a platform for training and sharing of best practices. Our programmes are to inspire, develop and encourage people to explore, create and learn. You are encouraged to refer to the event schedule for the entire events lined up and endeavour to participate in your interested ones.

On behalf of the Organising Committee of the GIBF, I welcome all Ghanaian and international exhibitors and visitors to the 21st edition of the Ghana International Book Fair.

The GIBF has been the biggest literary event that promotes the Ghanaian cultural heritage through books and publishing. Over the years, consistent programmes, and initiatives of the GIBF have featured the Ghanaian book industry in the global pedestal of book industry news.

We believe that the GIBF has proven to be the most appropriate annual forum for the discussion of issues that are critical to the survival of the industry and maintaining a healthy cultural perspective about books, reading, literacy and lifelong learning. That will continue.

Let me also use this opportunity to invite you all to the 6th Ghana International Book Fair Personality of the Year in honour of Mr. Lawrence Darmani (Founder and CEO, Step Publishers). This event will be held on Friday August 9, 2024; Committee Hall 1, Accra International Conference Centre.

The organisation of the Ghana International Book Fair is highly costly and the Book Fair can rapidly expand with the financial support of government.

In conclusion, as the Chairman of the Ghana International Book Fair and President of the Ghana Publishers Association (GPA) I extend our appreciation to the Organising Stakeholders and to all Sponsors and Partners whose support has translated into the existence of this year's Book Fair.

Once again, I welcome all of you, especially the distinguished international participants of the Book Fair to this wonderful event and wish you a successful stay.

EXPOSITION ON THE THEME

BOOKS & CULTURE IN THE ERA OF (AI) ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Artificial intelligence (AI) permeates every aspect of human lives, from defense and finance to entertainment, books, culture and social interactions. AI has become topical globally and it emerges as the cornerstone of global innovation, reshaping the face of our societies.

Publishing of books has undergone a lot of developmental stages as a result of technological advancement. Artificial intelligence, the current useful technology for the publishing industry, involves the ability of a digital computer or computer-controlled robot to perform tasks commonly associated with human intelligence.

There are ongoing discussions and debates about AI and its positive and negative effects on publishing and books. AI offers useful tools to increase efficiency and speed, reduce human-based tasks and cost, predict market trends and improve analytics. However, authors, publishers and other stakeholders in the publishing industry posit that the use of AI for book publishing poses copyright infringement, outputs and ethical issues – lack of transparency and accountability of books (AI cannot be an author). The debates and experiences continue that AI may trigger misinformation, inadvertent plagiarism of re-used content and increased integrity issues: faked data or manuscripts. Copyrighted owners of books are advocating that AI companies should acquire license before using their digital contents as data for their AI software. The impact of AI on publishing and books is endless.

There have been some predictions that AI has the potential of displacing people from certain jobs not only in the publishing industry but also in other sectors. Africa is still young in the application of AI for book publishing. Many authors and publishers in Ghana and Africa need training and practical knowledge on how to use the appropriate AI software to execute certain publishing functions which include text generation and text summarization, digital editing, customer service, plagiarism checks and reviewer recommendation.

Artificial intelligence can be complex and complicated if not well understood and applied. The complex nature of AI usually moves people to ask: Is AI a friend or a foe to the publishing industry? Is AI a replacement of human creativity? AI cannot be stopped but it can be shaped for the betterment of authors, publishers and the industry at large.

This year, the Ghana International Book Fair is focusing on the theme: Books and Culture in the Era of Artificial Intelligence to add to the ongoing discussions and training for publishing industry professionals. Since AI has become part of our daily lives, is influencing how books are published and even influencing the contents of books; it is incumbent upon us to navigate this technological frontier with knowledge, foresight and wisdom.
